Boykin, and children, Billy and Elizabeth, of this city will occupy their home in Lancaster. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Boykin will be glad to learn that their little son, Billy, has recovered after an illness of 10 days or more.—Charlotte Observer.

HISTORIC WAXHAW.

Lancaster Ministers Visit Old Churchyard.

Rev. H. R. Murchison, accompanied by Rev. J. C. Rowan of Camden, Rev. E. T. Hodges and Dr. J. H. Thayer, motored to old Waxhaw church yard last Saturday afternoon. This sacred spot has long been of interest to all who care for the past history of South Carolina and the visiting clergymen found much to interest them. They spent several hours deciphering the epitaphs on the old soapstone tablets, many of which furnish dates and facts otherwise impossible to secure. Of especial interest to the visitors was the last resting place of William Richardson Davis, the father of the University of North Carolina, who introduced the bill in the North Carolina legislature creating the university.

The grave of the father of Andrew Jackson cannot be identified, although it is a matter of history that the general's father was buried there. Rev. William Richardson, a native of Ireland, first pastor of the ancient church, around which the cemetery extends, was also buried there.

The neighborhood of Waxhaw was the first settlement in Lancaster county and in the old grave yard are to be found the graves of many pioneers who made possible the blessings we enjoy today. Col. James H. Witherspoon, Sr., the first of that name in Lancaster county, many of the Posters, the Richardsons, the Crawfords, the Lathams, the Donnons, and the ancestors of many other Lancastrians were laid to rest in "God's Acre" surrounding old Waxhaw church.

Any Term Permissible.

"A man should be permitted to call a spade a spade," remarked the Wise Guy.

"But he should be excused for calling a lawn mower anything he can lay his tongue to," replied the Simple Mug, who had just moved to the suburbs.

MACKORELL-PROCTOR.

Marriage in York of Interest to Many People Here.

Of interest here, where the bride has been a welcome visitor, will be the following from The York News of Monday last:

"A marriage last week that was a complete surprise to the friends of the contracting parties was that of Miss Jennie Beard Mackorell to Tracy Proctor, which was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage, York, Thursday evening, Rev. James H. Machen officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Mackorell and has a wide circle of friends in this county. The groom is a popular telegraph operator of the Southern Railway, and has made his home in York for several years. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Proctor left for a short stay at Wrightsville Beach, N. C., and other points in that state."

Miss Mackorell is a most attractive young woman, who on her frequent visits to her grandparents, Major and Mrs. J. M. Riddle, and other relatives here, has made hosts of sincere friends, all of whom wish her much happiness.

Social News

"Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Thompson of Richmond, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Hazel Marie, to Mr. Thomas Walter Huey of Rock Hill, S. C. The wedding will take place in the early fall."

The above announcement, made this week in the Rock Hill papers, will be of interest in Lancaster, where Mr. Huey has often visited and where he has many friends. The groom-to-be is a nephew of Mrs. A. B. Ferguson of this place.

Misses Isabel and Jessie Williams of Darlington, Marie Guerrant of Virginia, Rachel Wylie of York, Marguerite Fitzsimmons of Charleston and Nellie Moore of McConnellsville and Mr. J. D. Arthur, Jr., of Union, who are members of a charming house party at which Misses Mary and Dorothy Moore are entertaining, were complimented by their hostesses with a delightful party Thursday afternoon. The spacious rooms were cool and inviting, a welcome retreat from the intense heat without. The game of hearts was played at six tables. Miss Olive Blackmon, who scored highest, receiving first prize, a deck of cards. Miss Mildred Green took the consolation, a dainty handkerchief. After the games, were served refreshing ices, cake and mints, in which a color scheme of green and white was carried out.

Miss Louise Wylie entertained informally Wednesday afternoon in honor of the Misses Moore's house party. Her guests were first to the Star Theatre and from "the movies" to her home, where music was enjoyed. Tea and sandwiches were served on the porch of the Wylie home.

Mrs. T. M. Hughes delighted four young girls by entertaining them at a most enjoyable party Wednesday afternoon. Her guests were Misses Mary Heath Jones, Lallage Cautchen, Mildred Green and Katharine Wylie, and hearts, played for a couple of hours, furnished pleasant entertainment. Miss Mary Heath Jones, who scored highest, won the prize, a pretty pair of finger rings. During the afternoon the hostess served elaborate refreshments.

In honor of her accomplished house guests, the Misses Simpson of Baltimore, Miss Lella Gregory entertained an automobile party at Heath Springs last Wednesday evening. The trip was made in several automobiles and was enjoyed by a score or more young people. The hostess served an elaborate picnic supper just before returning to Lancaster.

Miss Ethel Cautchen was the hostess of the Mary Anna Jackson Chapter, Children of the Confederacy, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. A full historical program followed the regular business and during the social hour the hostess served an ice course, which was much enjoyed.

Children's Day at Buffalo Church. To the Editor of The News:

As I never see anything from here I thought that I would give a little news. It is not on visiting. I just want to tell what a good meeting we had at Buffalo church last Sunday. It was Children's Day and I must say it was the grandest I ever saw. Mr. Birchmore, of Camden, came up and gave a good talk after the exercises were over. I think it pleased him; he said he wanted to borrow the school to carry to Camden to show what a read Children's Day meant. Now if this misses the waste basket, which I do not think it will, I will come again. R. J. L.

Kershaw, S. C., Route 6, July 14.
